

NAC 2024

OBJECTIVES AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Objectives

- Continue as the NAC to learn, share ideas, and discuss the key ongoing issues affecting the Colorado River in Utah and the West
- Brainstorm how to prepare for Utah's diminishing water supply
- Consider expanding the NAC to include additional members
- Collaborate more with the other advisory councils
- Continue to provide timely, concrete, actionable recommendations to the Authority Board on how best to allocate scarce Colorado River resources

Recommendations

The NAC continues to believe that urgent action is necessary to avoid the effects associated with the current and anticipated diminished supply of Colorado River water. As we kick off 2024, the NAC makes the following recommendations to the Authority Board. Several of these are similar to the recommendations we provided in early 2023

More Feedback and Engagement with Councils

Conservation

Curtailment and Scenario Planning

Best Science

Protect Utah's Interests

Aggressively Pursue and Wisely Use Federal Funding

Conclusion

Thank you for the opportunity to offer our 2024 objective and these updated recommendations to the Authority Board.

The work you do on this Board is vital to the state of Utah and we thank you for your time and service. We hope the recommendations outlined here will help you fulfill your Authority objectives on behalf of the citizens of Utah